Inflation Revival Major Threat, Ike Told

Steel Talks Will Be Stepped Up

Union Pacts Extended Two Weeks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Steel wage negotiations were resumed Sunday without the pressure of an immediate strike threat. Quick agreement was reached to put the talks on a stepped-up schedule.

The bargaining got under way again in a more relaxed atmosphere following President Eisenhower's personal intervention Saturday which brought a two-week extension of a strike deadline from midnight Tuesday until midnight, July 14.

The two top-level four-man negotiating teams met for 75 minutes and recessed until Wednesday morning to allow time to take care of technical details in connection with the extension of union contracts with the major steel companies and "to negotiate similar extensions with some 70 additional steel companies not represented in these negotiations," a joint industry-union statement said.

"The conferences will resume

Gov. Long Aims Blasts At Wife, Old Colleagues

WINFIELD, La. (AP)—Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long loaded both barrels Sunday and took shots at his wife, old political colleagues and indicated a special session of the Legislature would be called.

The tempestuous 63-year-old governor held a 15-minute news conference on the back porch of "my pea patch farm."

He took his wife Blanche, missing from Louisiana since early this week — to task for her part in having him committed to two mental hospitals.

"She's gone to a resort to cool off," he said, "and she's sorry she can't come back to get more of my salary."

The governor didn't indicate where his wife might be, or even if he knew where she was.

"I would have divorced her long before now," he said, "if I hadn't been in politics."

But he said some politicians have been hurt by divorce. Others, he said, have been helped by it "and I hope I am one of them."

He indicated a shakeup in the State Department of Public Welfare was upcoming, although he had heard different reports on the department's director, Mary Evelyn Dickerson Parker.

He left little doubt that he would remove Theo Cangelosi, his longtime political friend and legal adviser, as chairman of the board of supervisors at Louisiana State University.

"He double-crossed me," Long snapped, "he represented both me and my wife. I'm going to get rid of him if I can."

Dr. Paul Pratt, Long's attending physician, tried to limit the conference, but he had trouble checking Long once the governor got started.

"Mentally, I'm at my best," he said, "but physically, I'm at my worst."

He criticized the state mental hospital at Mandeville where he spent eight days before his release last Friday. Earlier, he spent 16 days at a Galveston, Tex., psychiatric clinic.

"There's more bunk at Mandeville than any one house can hold," he said. The governor indicated earlier he would take further action regarding the state hospitals department. He fired two of the department's top men Friday.

He touched on his plan to run for governor — even though he is prohibited by state law from another term — and said he expects to win in the first primary. His announced plan, earlier, was to resign as governor before his term expires and then run in the upcoming gubernatorial primary.

Diplomatic Papers Reveal How Russia Grabbed Latvia, Lithuania And Estonia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The story of how the Soviet Union snuffed out the life of three tiny, independent neighbors unfolded graphically in secret diplomatic papers released by the United States Sunday.

A State Department spokesman said the record underscores why Washington to this day does not consider the Soviet grab of the made.

The once-secret accounts of the later Tass, the Soviet news agency Red takeover with half a million accused the Lithuanian government of kidnapping Soviet soldiers, came to light with the publication of 1940 diplomatic documents. This was part of the department's program of releasing Latvian-Estonia.

One U.S. diplomat, Henry Wilf, from the German military attaché in the Anthell Legion, a clerk in the German General Staff troops, expected the Russians to seize Soviet forces poured into the two old state papers.

One U.S. diplomat, Henry Wilf, from the German military attaché in the Anthell Legion, a clerk in the German General Staff troops.

The next day a cable to Washington from the U.S. Embassy in Moscow told of the arrival there of the Lithuanian prime minister, Antanas Merkys. Merkys was greeted by high Soviet officials at the Moscow railroad station.

Feb. 13 of that year that all three Baltic states were standing fast which was well decorated with Soviet and Lithuanian flags.

The young prince set himself afire by pouring a coffee pot full of gasoline over his body and striking a match. He was found screaming in his flaming apartment by the landlord, Dr. Faust H. Hanna.

The search team said this indicated the crew members bailed out of the plane when it was found by the geologists.

The Air Force said the discovery presented one of the greatest mysteries in aviation history. A U.S. Army motley team, including Capt. Myron D. Fuller and supported by an oil exploration team, undertook a three-week search of the desert this month.

They found no bodies but the search led to the marker trail which began about 20 miles north of the wrecked plane and continued for another 24 miles northward before ending at a crossing of old desert tracks.

Election, Soccer, Film Festival Attract Thousands Of Visitors To West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin Neues Deutschland, the Communist party organ in East Berlin, swerved to an invitation to the day as this segment of a city took said the Red regime viewed the Soviet ambassador to Bonn to attend the election in West Berlin. He was not on the color of a big political convention, a Hollywood premiere Berlin with "great seriousness" pected to show up.

The drawing cards were the "growing danger." East Germans West German presidential election have hinted the election would many contend West Berlin, 110 an eye on several members of his administration in the search for a part of East Germany. But the successor to Lewis L. Strauss as State Department Berlin is secretary of commerce.

"held in trust by the principal Allied powers as the capital of a reunited Germany."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, in a Moscow statement Sunday, said the holding of the election in Berlin was another example of an effort to create tension.

The last West German presidential election was held in West Berlin in 1954 without Communist protest.

Despite Communist charges that the election deep behind the Iron Curtain was a provocation, hardly anyone seemed to expect trouble. But officials were on the alert.

They sang especially composed disarmament songs in Trafalgar Square and dispersed peacefully after covering about two miles of city streets.

Blame it all on British tradition.

Last week, the government mailed off to the administrators of the ancient Buckminster estate, in Lincolnshire, a check for 75 pounds, 10 shillings, which is about $210. For the upkeep of Fillingham Castle, in Wales.

Not much to run a castle on? In Fillingham's case it was enough. For Fillingham does not exist. And, as far as the records show, it never has.

Except, maybe, in the mind of bonnie King Charles.

The theory is that late in the 17th century, when fun-loving Charlie was king, he invented the castle as an excuse to raise some old employee averted disaster.

Later, he "leased" the castle to the employee, William Buskey, and its maintenance money — for escaped with second-degree burns a cash sum — to the family which of the right arm and singed hair, then owned the Buckminster estate. In 1786, when the government took over the administration

At Least 11 Killed In Maryland Weekend Accidents

By The Associated Press

At least 11 persons, including two teen-agers killed in separate farm tractor tragedies, lost their lives in Maryland accidents this weekend.

Three other teen-agers perished in an automobile smash-up in Prince Georges County. Drownings claimed the lives of two when a tractor he was operating overturned on Maryland 121 near Waldorf. The vehicle overturned, pinning him as it fell.

Joseph L. Berry, 16, was crushed to death Saturday while operating a tractor on the farm of his mother, Mrs. Estelle V. Berry, near Waldorf. The vehicle overturned, killing him as it fell.

William B. Phillips, 15, met a similar death in Montgomery County, suffering fatal injuries when a tractor he was operating overturned on Maryland 121 near the community of Boyds, Md. The tractor toppled over when he hit a bank on the left side of the road about three miles north of Frederick.

State Police said the victim pulled onto the highway after being parked on the shoulder and her automobile was struck by another car driven by Mrs. Gary Eleanor Brooks, 34, of Lakeland, Fla.

Thomas Ewing, 6-year-old Baltimorean, drowned in the Magog River Saturday while visiting an aunt at Riverdale, Anne Arundel County.

Also killed in Prince Georges County was George D. Parran, 24, of Washington, whose motorcycle skidded off the road and on the grounds of Glen Dale Hospital.

Mrs. Annie Stokes, 23-year-old passenger on the cycle, was critically injured.

Another Saturday traffic victim was Ira Everett Paugh, 28, of Vindex, Md., who was killed when an automobile went out of control on Maryland 38, overturned several times and hit a tree near Kitzmiller, Garrett County.

Gorman Edward Parker, 40, of Walston Switch, Wicomico County, was killed Sunday morning when his car ran off Anderson Road west of Salisbury, hit a pole and overturned. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Peninsula General Hospital.

In another Sunday accident,

Frostburg Lions Spend $2,800 For Projects

Karl Hartig Is Installed President

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Lions Club, through community projects, raised and spent over $2,800 during the fiscal year just ended, according to Russell Keister, retiring president.

Of the total amount, $783.80 was spent for eyeglasses and examinations of school children; $500 for the Frostburg library; $15, Beall High Mountaineer; $100, County United Fund; $50, Beall High scoreboard; $10, Beall High Band Boosters Club; $10, community Christmas lights; $9.55, international gift; $50, Pony League; $35, Maryland Singers of Frostburg State Teachers College; $10, Heart Fund; $200, Lions International for work in Columbia; $145.86, station wagon repairs for the Friends Aware school.

Included in the report was $116.20 which the Lions collected for the Salvation Army at Christmas time, and the fund allocated for the work at the Little League park of $300.

Installation of officers followed the business session with Carl Thomas, International councilor, of Frederick, in charge. Installed were Karl Hartig, first vice president; Dr. Daniel Shupe, second vice president; E. B. Van Fossen, third vice president; Thomas Blair, secretary; George Griffith, treasurer; U. B. F. Edwards, lion tamer; John Malcolm, tail twister; Carl Ruffo, Thomas Hutchinson, George Walters and Robert Ewing, board of directors.

Key awards were presented to John Ritchie, W. W. Sluss Jr. and Robert Crabtree for acquiring two or more new members the past year. John L. Shamer, who has just completed a two-year term as secretary, was presented a past secretary award and Russell Keister, a past president pin.

Dr. Daniel Shupe and John Fatkin announced that the club will sponsor the Beams Attractions in July at the ball park.

Firm Leases Oil, Gas Right

The oil and gas rights in Cooper's Rock State Forest, which is located in north central West Virginia 15 miles west of the Garrett County line, have been granted William E. Snee and Orville Eberly, Uniontown.

This is the first lease of oil and gas rights in a West Virginia State Forest to be granted by the West Virginia Conservation Commission.

Snee and Eberly developed the Terra Alta natural gas field, which they sold several years ago to the C&A Gas Company.

Warden Lane, conservation commission director, said Snee and Eberly outbid several firms for the lease, including Hope Natural Gas Company and the Shell Oil Company.

The commission will receive a minimum annual rental of $13,479, or a dollar an acre. In addition, the commission will get the revenue of 33.34 per cent of all gas produced, 50 per cent of all oil and 50 per cent of all gasoline.

Lane said the oil and gas operations will be tightly restricted so that public use of the forest will not be hampered.

Cornerstone Of Old Presbyterian Church Reveals Interesting Objects

YWA Honors Miss Bittner

FROSTBURG — Miss Darlene Bittner was the honored member to install gas meters for apartments in the building. Mr. Cesnick broke open the box in the cornerstone and revealed a number of interesting objects.

Several photographs including the original of the one shown here, portray groups of members from the church, classes photos of the Sunday School and snapshots of construction work on the building. The box also contained a Bible, two pennies dated 1912 and 1913, one nickel 1914 and one dime dated 1913. A blueprint of the front of the building, the deed to the ground, and a program of dedication exercises and cornerstone laying.

The program recalls the information that Midland once boasted of an excellent municipal band, known as the Midland City Band, which played a concert at the dedication ceremony. The Presbyterians Church was dedicated in 1914, at which time its location was known to old-timers as The Orchard. The late Stanley H. Jewell of Barton served as minister at the time.

Trustees and members of the building committee included Frank A. Scott, president; Thom as McFarlane, secretary; Conrad Lutz, treasurer; William Campbell, John Tennant, William Duckworth and William Hamilton.

After conducting services in the building for many years, the congregation eventually abandoned it as many members moved away as coal mines decreased employment in the town and area.

The resolution commended Mr. Stewart for conscientious service rendered to the Town of Frostburg and its citizens while acting as a director of the hospital.

It was pointed out in the resolution that Mr. Stewart has declined to seek reappointment and advised Governor J. Millard Tawes and the board to that effect. The resolution concluded with regret that Mr. Stewart declined to serve as director for another term.

Mr. Cesnick treasures his find and says he is willing to show it to any interested persons. The papers, pictures and coins are extremely well preserved and in good condition, despite 45 years of enclosure. The small tin box was slightly rusted, but Mr. Cesnick has cleaned and polished it, and has all the articles intact and stored in the box for safe keeping.

• Illogical Handouts Should Be Ended

Back in the immediate post-World War II days, Congress enacted many laws to aid the millions of young men who had given several years to the defense of their country. In an exuberant attempt to show the gratitude of the nation to its courageous defenders, the legislators passed various bills providing preferential treatment for veterans.

One of these measures, providing pensions for veterans with disabilities caused outside the service, was enacted in too great haste. There is now a bill before Congress to modify in part the most damaging effects of this legislation, but the concept of government subsidy embodied in the very principle of the original bill requires more stringent correction than modification.

There is no basis in logic or moral honesty for a pension paid to any group of persons for physical disabilities caused by a force outside the sphere of influence of the concern which pays the bill. The fact that it is the government, with its supposedly unlimited resources, that is paying the bill in no way changes the injustice of the obligation.

As it now stands, the pension legislation goes even further afield than to penalize the taxpayers for disabilities for which they are not responsible. It insists upon all veterans who fall into this category collecting their pensions, regardless of the need. With non-service connected disability pensions now totalling more than a billion dollars annually, it is obvious thousands of veterans are receiving money from the Treasury to which they have no moral title and which they do not need.

It is to correct this situation that a compromise bill has been reported to the floor of the House of Representatives by the House Veterans Affairs Committee. It was originally designed as a bill to outlaw non-service pensions, as recommended more than three years ago by the commission headed by Gen. Omar Bradley. Powerful veterans lobbies have succeeded in toning down the bill, which now permits the pensions to continue, but limits them to those who are in need.

Perhaps one should be content with a token acknowledgement that all is not right in a policy which favors one group of citizens over another, but bending principles was never a satisfactory method of salving a guilty conscience.

The Unobjective Historian

The assumption must be that an historian is objective. His task is to discover the facts of man's existence upon this Earth, to collate and correlate them, to record them, and sometimes, as Toynbee has tried, to make them into a system. When an historian writes, as Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., did, that he is "engaged in a private crusade to exterminate this particular myth that Herbert Hoover offered cooperation to Roosevelt in the weeks between the election and inauguration in 1932-33," he, Schlesinger, ceases to be an historian and becomes a propagandist.

Four men were engaged in the conversations concerning the cooperation under discussion. They were President Herbert Hoover, President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, Ogden Mills and Raymond Moley. Of these four men, Herbert Hoover and Raymond Moley are alive. Concerning these events Hoover and Moley have written.

Schlesinger, at the time of these events, was 15 years old; he was not an intimate of these men and therefore can only know what transpired from a selected documentation of the case.

A journalist would interview Herbert Hoover and Raymond Moley, the two survivors of the conference; perhaps an historian rejects the testimony of the living and only deals with documentation. On February 17, 1933, Herbert Hoover wrote a long-hand letter to Franklin D. Roosevelt, which read:

"A most critical situation has arisen in the country of which I feel it is my duty to advise you confidentially. I am therefore taking this course of writing you myself and sending it to you through the Secret Service for your hand direct as obviously its misplacement would only feed the fire and increase the dangers."

Further, he wrote:

"... I do not refer to action on all the causes of alarm, but it would steady the country greatly if there could be prompt assurance that there will be no tampering or inflation of the currency; that the budget will be unquestionably balanced, even if further taxation is necessary; that the Government credit will be maintained by refusal to exhaust it in the issue of securities..."

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, agreeing with Hoover, refused to become Roosevelt's Secretary of the Treasury, because of similar fears. Raymond Moley was at that time closest to Roosevelt. He had been the leading person of the so-called Brain Trust. In his book, "After Seven Years," Moley deals fully with this situation. He accompanied Roosevelt to the White House for the conference with Hoover and Mills. This is what Moley says of Hoover's statement to Roosevelt:

"Before he had finished, it was clear that we were in the presence of the best-informed individual in the country on the question of the debts. His story showed a mastery of detail and a clarity of arrangement that compelled admiration."

I refer to this one instance because it is so fully documented and two witnesses are alive to give testimony. There was another conference on January 20, 1933, at which Hoover, Roosevelt, Secretary of State Henry Stimson, Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, Ambassador Norman Davis and Raymond Moley were present. In fact, a joint statement was issued at the time.

In the curious document from which I quote, the historian Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., says:

"What kind of cooperation was this?" Cooperation from a defeated President ought to consist of an effort to help the President-elect put his program into effect. Hoover's tenders of cooperation consisted instead of demands that Roosevelt repudiate the program on which he had been elected and accept Hoover's...

I wonder if, in his busy life, the historian has had time to look at the Roosevelt program of 1932. It had to do with beer and economy in government expenditures. It was nothing like the Roosevelt program of 1936 and 1940. It is the second New Deal Schlesinger is thinking about.

Has Treason Now Become A Misdemeanor?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Klaus Fuchs betrayed the country of which he was a citizen — Great Britain — but after only nine and a half years in prison, he goes free and travels back to the Communist world to which he previously gave the secrets of the atom bomb.

Four young white boys who raped a Negro girl were given sentences of life imprisonment in Florida last Monday, but such offenders often are paroled after ten years in jail.

Charles Starkweather, a teenager who went mad and killed eleven persons, was electrocuted on Thursday in Nebraska.

Does the punishment fit the crime?

In Britain for a long time they have had an agitation against capital punishment, and in March 1957, the British Parliament by law eliminated capital punishment for many types of murders, and prescribed the death penalty only in certain cases such as when a prison guard or policeman is murdered, or during a theft, or as a result of a deliberate shooting.

The Biblical command "Thou Shalt Not Kill" has, of course, been the main basis for the crusade against capital punishment. There has arisen in recent years a widespread belief that individual cases may differ, and that a mandatory execution is in itself wrong because it deprives juries and judges of discretion.

In the nation's capital today about 4,500 members of the diplomatic community enjoy immunity because of the ancient statute which protects them from arrest and imprisonment. Many of these are Americans who have achieved their immunity by virtue of being employed by a foreign mission—as cooks, gardeners and clerical help.

In Washington the principal benefit is being able to park a car wherever and whenever they please. It is not uncommon to see a sleek car with diplomatic tags parked on one of Washington's busiest streets right under big-letter "no parking" signs.

Last year alone Washington police canceled 4,556 tickets for would obstruct justice has often provoked a mob to take the law into its own hands.

The recent rape cases have had a lot of publicity in different sections of the country. Many letters received by this correspondent point out that in some northern cities the news of rapings by Negroes on whites has been suppressed or given no prominence. Conversely, in Southern areas there have been instances in which Whites have been spared the death sentence for rape, whereas Negroes have suffered the extreme penalty.

It is being questioned whether, judged by purely legal standards, and the history of capital punishment, rape in itself where no death is involved, deserves the extreme penalty. Sometimes execution is a merciful act. A long prison sentence can be a torture that many convicts would prefer to see ended by death.

The advance in psychiatric research has certainly been responsible for the belief that many criminals can be rehabilitated.

The punishment which lasts the longest is that which troubles the conscience. Even those who are paroled after a few years in prison find it hard to meet the cold glances of their fellow citizens, who never forget the crime.

Treason, to be sure, is punishable by death or imprisonment, and the United States has not failed to execute traitors where the evidence was conclusive.

The Rosenbergs, for instance, who helped convey secrets to Klaus Fuchs, were tried and executed, though there was a last-minute attempt to get them a reprieve.

The Communists in America organized a movement to try to save the Rosenbergs, and this in itself convinced many people of their guilt.

Klaus Fuchs betrayed America as well as Britain. For he gathered his information while in this country. British officials made a grave blunder when they cleared him for entrance to American laboratories.

Every so often, the State department, charged with handling the matter of diplomatic immunity, reminds some foreign embassy, that immunity is not a license to violate the traffic laws. Sometimes, but not often, flagrant violators are reprimanded by their own ambassadors.

One aspect of the 1790 law is little known and never enforced. Under the law, an officer who arrests a diplomat—and a traffic ticket is technically an arrest notice—is a "violator of the law of nations and a disturber of the public repose." As such he is subject to maximum penalties of three years in jail and a fine at the discretion of the court!

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

The problem of granting immunity to members of the foreign diplomatic corps in Washington has grown far from what was intended when the United States law was passed in 1790.

In the nation's capital today about 4,500 members of the diplomatic community enjoy immunity because of the ancient statute which protects them from arrest and imprisonment. Many of these are Americans who have achieved their immunity by virtue of being employed by a foreign mission—as cooks, gardeners and clerical help.

In Washington the principal benefit is being able to park a car wherever and whenever they please. It is not uncommon to see a sleek car with diplomatic tags parked on one of Washington's busiest streets right under big-letter "no parking" signs.

Last year alone Washington police canceled 4,556 tickets for parking, speeding, running red lights and other traffic violations. There is no way of estimating how many violations actually occurred, because police usually do not even bother to write up tickets against cars with diplomatic tags.

Every so often, the State department, charged with handling the matter of diplomatic immunity, reminds some foreign embassy, that immunity is not a license to violate the traffic laws. Sometimes, but not often, flagrant violators are reprimanded by their own ambassadors.

One aspect of the 1790 law is little known and never enforced. On the First Annual Poll for the Worst Actor is over. The public, which gets no opportunity to vote for the best in entertainment, sent its nominations for the worst with a great deal of enthusiasm. Instead of awarding Oscars, I think that I will send a celluloid cigarette lighter, if I can find a celluloid cigarette lighter.

There were ten categories. The honors for Worst Actor were won, after a bitter struggle, by Mr. Tab Hunter. In second place was that mountain of muscle, Rock Hudson, who beat out Errol Flynn and John Wayne, tied for third place.

Among the actresses, Marilyn Monroe struttet off with the Most Abysmal title, followed at a distance by Elizabeth Taylor and Kim Novak. A poll such as this is full of surprises, and I cannot understand how Zsa Zsa Gabor got only 13 votes. For all I know, the 13 may have been cast by George Sanders.

The Least Inspiring Movie was found to be Gigi. In second place was Separate Tables. In third, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof. I can account for this only by figuring that many of you have not endured the exquisite agonies of Bus Stop and Peyton Place.

The Dregs of Television Acting was won by that old Smithfield, Milton Berle, who wasn't competing. Second place goes to Broderick Crawford, who grunts expressively. Jack Paar is in third place, and I hope you realize what this is going to do to Leaky Jack.

The ladies on television have a difficult time, what with melting makeup and quick changes. Still, Gale Storm finished strong as the weakest of the lot, with Martha Raye and Dinah Shore trailing.

The television show which appears to inspire the most running to the refrigerator is none other than Seer of the Serutan Set, Lawrence Welk. In second place is a favorite of mine, What's My Line? which tied for dishonors with The Berle Show.

In the field of radio—and, by the way, what's radio?—low acting laurels go to Arthur Godfrey who, as I recall, never tried to act except in a commercial. He beat out Jack Benny and Peter Lind Hayes.

RICE AND PRESSURE

E. E. writes: Is eating rice the best medicine for high blood pressure?

REPLY

The rice diet enjoyed a brief period of popularity several years ago. But it was too rigid and monotonous for most hypertension. Later it was found that the good results from the diet were traceable to its low sodium content and not to the rice itself.

The modern physician relies more heavily on drug therapy than diet.

CAFFEINE AND TENSION

P. L. writes: Why is coffee bad for glaucoma?

REPLY

It increases tension. In glaucoma, the outflow of fluid in the eye is blocked, and thus tension on the eyeballs is increased.

Anything that dilates the pupils and adds to this tension ought to be avoided. These factors include emotional upsets, tight collars, watching movies or TV in the dark, and overindulgence in coffee.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Now that "Girl" which David Swift is directing, Richard Egan is going to be a papa in January, he's going to work extra hard to buy those baby shoes. His first job since he and Pat learned about the expected arrival, will be with Walt Disney.

Dick has signed for the part of Edmond Chilton in Eleanor H. Porter's perennial best selling when he reports to Leland Hayward, "Pollyanna." He joins the ward for "Goodbye Charlie", the cast headed by Jane Wyman, Lauren Bacall plays. As I told you, Karl Malden and Kevin Corcoran Betty Bacall gets back and goes in the adventures of the "Glad" into rehearsals in September, and she and Sydney take the play to Cleveland, Detroit and Pittsburgh before opening in New York in December.

I saw Noelle Adams, Sydney's girlfriend, with a group of friends at Lucchino's. There are doubts whether she and Sydney will ever get married.

The most daring play of its day was "The Captive" which I saw 25 years ago with Helen Menken on Broadway. It was a story of a young, beautiful girl who fell under the spell of another woman. This very tricky subject was handled so that the other woman was never shown.

On the plane coming home Irving Lazar told me that he and Arthur Hornblow have bought the rights from Gilbert Miller and will bring it to Broadway in a re-written play and they will also make it into a movie. It should take a bit of doing to get this past the censors, but Irving tells me that they already have a way of taking out the unpleasantries.

Talked with Fred Astaire who moved into the Waldorf just before I left. He was so happy about his notices on his book "Steps in

Time." He worked hard, both at the publishers' convention and in making appearances. Fred and daughter Ava went to hear Tommy Sands and after the show they visited the young singer. Fred was most complimentary and said that Tommy has great poise for so young an entertainer.

New York likes young Sands so well, and the Waldorf business is so good that Gus Lampe has signed him for the Coconuts at Grove Aug. 12 for a two week engagement.

While the young people love the progressive jazz, I like Tommy best when he sings ballads.

Joanne Woodward, who now has autograph-seekers following her, tells me that her first girlhood crush was on Van Johnson. "I was so crazy about him," she said. "I went to see every movie he made. When he got married I went into deep mourning — I thought my life was over. And when I finally met him my heart almost stopped beating."

I don't know whether she's ever told Van about this crush or not, but I thought it was very cute and she gave me permission to tell it. Naturally, Van is out of her life now and there is only one man. His name happens to be Paul Newman.

Even in New York word leaked out how good the four Crosby boys (Bing's sons) are in their act in Tucson, Ariz., where they opened. Milton Prell of the Sahara and Major Riddle of The Dunes, in Las Vegas, were backstage and made the boys a fancy offer of an estimated $150,000, give or take a few thousand.

The Crosbys have also had an offer from the Latin Quarter in New York. Their act was written by Harry Crane and Jack Brooks, and the boss of the show is big brother Gary.

ROMFORD, England (UPI) — Kim, the police dog, did his duty and captured alleged house-breaker Samuel Smith, 41, a court was told Saturday. But when Kim was called off, Smith took his revenge. He bit the dog's handler in the thigh, then a thumb, a policeman testified. Smith was remanded in custody.

SHOPPING PLEASURE!

Area residents have, for years, shopping L. Bernstein's for their many furniture and appliance needs. There's a good reason, too. In fact, there are many reasons. But the most important of all is that at L. Bernstein's the customers' best interests comes first.

L. Bernstein's is not satisfied to be just another furniture store. Certainly not satisfied just to bring you the best in values, easy terms, charge accounts and many other services too numerous to mention here. L. Bernstein's wants you to have these conveniences — plus any others that will give you greater satisfaction. That's why Bernstein's has installed modern gas air conditioning. Here is an advancement that assures you the ultimate in shopping comfort — especially with the many hot summer days ahead. Yes, at L. Bernstein's you'll find a cool, relaxed atmosphere that will make your shopping so much more enjoyable.

Now — more than ever — L. Bernstein's is the Furniture store to shop. Won't you stop in soon, to shop or to browse, and enjoy L. Bernstein's latest improvement designed just for you! L. Bernstein Furniture Company, 9-11 N. Centre Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

STORY OF THE HOR

Did your beauty suffer any casualties over the weekend? Here are precautions to take for protection it needs!

Secrets Of Charm*by John Robert Powers*Week-End Beauty "Casualties"

How much charm and beauty can you attain with a sun-burned nose, stiff muscles and aching joints?

Are your feet and arches sore? Then sit on a chair and place junior's hard rubber ball under your arch. Firmly roll your foot across it from heel to toe. Keep the ball in as nearly the same spot as possible and you'll ease out the discomfort.

Calf muscles protesting? To relax them, walk once around the room on tiptoe and then after you step out on the right toe, lower the heel very slowly to the floor. On the next step, repeat with the left foot. After five minutes of this alternating routine you'll feel better!

Back and arms stiff and aching? Raise your arms to shoulder level in front of you; fling them hard as you can over your head and then straight down until your hands reach far behind you. Keep this up, maintaining a good rhythm and brisk pace.

Stiff joints and aching muscles are proof positive that you've been neglecting yourself for far too long. A little extra exercise will never cause soreness if you have been following a regular and sensible exercise routine such as this column consistently recommends.

If you are suffering from a lobster-red sunburn from having embarked on your recent weekend without proper personal precautions, let the penalties serve as a warning. Next weekend go well prepared! No matter how quickly you wish to promote a golden tan, remember that frequent crisping of your skin and

Train Hits Girl Near Hyndman

Patricia Smeerman, 12, Is Thrown From Railroad Trestle Into Creek

A 12-year-old Meyersdale, Pa., area girl was critically injured yesterday afternoon when she was struck by an eastbound B&O passenger train on a trestle at Cook's Mills near Hyndman and was hurled into Wills Creek.

Men Of LaSalle To Hold Corn Roast July 25

Annual Outing Is Set At Mt. Calvary

The Men of LaSalle will hold their second annual corn and wiener roast at Mt. Calvary on the Mason Road on Saturday, July 25, from 6:30 p.m. to midnight.

Tickets have been printed and are being distributed by members of the club, according to Anthony Cioni, president. Tickets entitle holders to all they can eat and drink. The event is open to the public.

Plans are being made by a committee composed of Paul Stakem, chairman, and Milton Kyhos, Paul Dougherty, Victor Malloy, John Hodel, Frank Werner, and Joseph Mackert.

Virtually all details for the program have been worked out, except for the entertainment which will include dancing in the open from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Two outgoing officers, Paul Stakem, president, and Joseph Mackert, treasurer, presented final reports at a recent meeting which was turned over to the newly elected officers, Mr. Cioni; Mr. Stakem, vice president; Richard Stegmaier, secretary, and William Schoenadel, treasurer.

Membership dues are due in September and the club has decided to mail to all present and prospective members a detailed report of receipts and disbursements for the past year along with the membership card.

The new officers expect to begin publishing a club bulletin within the next few months to keep members posted on operations of the club.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday, July 23.

Boor To Head Local 307

William Boor was elected president of Electricians Local 307 at a meeting Friday night at the Labor Temple.

Mr. Boor defeated Robert Weller for the post, to succeed the retiring president, Edgar Kegg, who was not a candidate for reelection.

George W. Lucas was re-elected financial secretary and business agent in a three-man race with Kenneth Sheets and Harry Foreman.

Elected without opposition were William Crux, vice president; Fred Sullivan, recording secretary; and Paul Cottom, treasurer.

Executive board members are Virgil Abe, Edgar Kegg, Roy Bowman, Floyd Clites and Clinton Northcraft.

B&O Worker Sustains Severe Finger Injury

Reddie Stutler, 57, of Vienna, Va., was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital early yesterday with a severe finger injury he sustained while at work.

Stutler, a flagman for the B&O Railroad, said he caught his right ring finger in the back of a seat. The hospital reported he lost part of his finger in the accident.

House Burned During Area Fire School

Fog Nozzles Used To Control Flames

Some 60 area firemen turned out in yesterday's 97-degree heat to watch an abandoned dwelling burn to the ground.

The controlled burning of the home off the east side of Green Ridge Mountain was done during a regional fire school.

The chief instructor for the fire school was Cromwell Zembower, regional instructor for the Fire Extension Service and a member of the training committee of the state volunteer firemen's association.

Assisting were Chief Fred Purcell, Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company; Chief Cleland Helmick, Flintstone; Chief Leroy Shoemaker, District 16, and Chief Ned Hose, Oldtown.

Members of all of those companies, along with the Baltimore Pike Fire Company, attended the school.

The abandoned two-story dwelling which was put to the torch, was offered to the firemen for training purposes.

The object of the school, Mr. Zembower said, was to provide instruction and practice in controlling a home fire with the use of booster tanks and tank trucks.

The equipment was furnished by the Bedford Road and District 16 companies.

Fog hoses were used to control the flames with water hauled to the site in pumper and tank trucks.

The flames were kept under control until the heat built up in the tinder-dry frame dwelling, which burned to the ground within an hour.

Firemen also got some practice in fighting brush fires as brands from the burning home set fire to brush in the area.

The fire fighters were entertained by the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company after the training class ended.

Falls 30 Feet

The friend grabbed the girl and attempted to hold her off the side of the rails. When the three-unit diesel passed by, the girl was pulled away and was hurled about 30 feet off the trestle into three feet of water in Wills Creek.

The injured girl was brought to the local hospital in the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company ambulance driven by John Clauson.

Authorities said the accident occurred at 2:37 p.m. (EDT), shortly after the passenger train had passed through Hyndman.

Engineer on the three-unit Diesel was L. E. Davis of Connellsville, and the conductor was Robert Gum of Pittsburgh, a railroad spokesman said.

The victim was on the fishing trip with her father, a younger brother and an unidentified friend. She and the friend were reportedly on the trestle when the train approached.

Salvation Army Budget Approved

The Salvation Army budget for its 1960 operations, including its request from the County United Fund, was approved Friday by the advisory board at a luncheon meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Robert G. Garner, board chairman, and the members also discussed the possibility of purchase of a Johnson Heights residence as the home for Lt. Richard McConnie. The SA's South Cumberland Corps at 511 Virginia Avenue was badly damaged by fire May 23.

Three Area DES Offices Report No Overpayments

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of Employment Security says it paid 181 persons $25,826 in jobless benefits on fraudulent claims during the first three months of 1958.

Director Robert B. Kimble said the figures represented less than one-fifth of 1 per cent of the $18,932,000 paid 95,879 persons during that quarter.

The department has just completed investigations of that three-month period.

A massive audit of the accounts of everyone receiving one payment during the period also showed that 1,772 claimants received overpayments totaling $60,000 because of errors or misunderstandings, with no fraud involved.

All fraud cases are turned over to prosecutors with prosecution recommended.

Kimble said only three offices had no overpayments of either type — Kitzmiller and Friendsville in Garrett County and Lonaconing in Allegany County.

Inflation Revival Major Threat, Ike Told

Steel Talks Will Be Stepped Up

Union Pacts Extended Two Weeks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Steel wage negotiations were resumed Sunday without the pressure of an immediate strike threat. Quick agreement was reached to put the talks on a stepped-up schedule.

The bargaining got under way again in a more relaxed atmosphere following President Eisenhower's personal intervention Saturday which brought a two-week extension of a strike deadline from midnight Tuesday until midnight July 14.

The two top-level four-man negotiating teams met for 75 minutes and recessed until Wednesday morning to allow time to take care of technical details in connection with the extension of union contracts with the major steel companies and "to negotiate similar extensions with some 70 additional steel companies not represented in these negotiations," a joint industry-union statement said.

"The conferences will resume

Gov. Long Aims Blasts At Wife, Old Colleagues

WINFIELD, La. (AP)—Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long loaded both barrels Sunday and took shots at his wife, old political colleagues and indicated a special session of the Legislature would be called.

The tempestuous 63-year-old governor held a 15-minute news conference on the back porch of "my pea patch farm."

He took his wife Blanche, missing from Louisiana since early this week — to task for her part in having him committed to two mental hospitals.

"She's gone to a resort to cool off," he said, "and she's sorry she can't come back to get more of my salary."

The governor didn't indicate where his wife might be, or even if he knew where she was.

But he said some politicians have been hurt by divorce. Others, he said, have been helped by it "and I hope I am one of them."

He indicated a shakeup in the State Department of Public Welfare was upcoming, although he said he had heard different reports on the department's director, Mary Evelyn Dickerson Parker.

He left little doubt that he would remove Theo Cangelosi, his long-time political friend and legal adviser, as chairman of the board of supervisors at Louisiana State University.

"He double-crossed me," Long snapped, "he represented both me and my wife. I'm going to get rid of him if I can."

Dr. Paul Pratt, Long's attending physician, tried to limit the conference, but he had trouble checking Long once the governor got started.

"Mentally, I'm at my best," he said, "but physically, I'm at my worst."

He criticized the state mental hospital at Mandeville where he spent eight days before his release last Friday. Earlier, he spent 16 days at a Galveston, Tex., psychiatric clinic.

"There's more bunk at Mandeville than any one house can hold," he said. The governor indicated earlier he would take further action regarding the state hospitals department. He fired two of the department's top men Friday.

He touched on his plan to run for governor — even though he is prohibited by state law from another term — and said he expects to win in the first primary. His announced plan, earlier, was to resign as governor before his term expires and then run in the upcoming gubernatorial primary.

Diplomatic Papers Reveal How Russia Grabbed Latvia, Lithuania And Estonia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The story of how the Soviet Union snuffed out the life of three tiny, independent neighbors unfolded graphically in secret diplomatic papers released by the United States Sunday.

A State Department spokesman said the record underscores why Washington to this day does not recognize the Soviet grab of the three countries — Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia — though it happened 19 years ago.

The once-secret accounts of the Red takeover with half a million soldiers, came to light with the publication of 1940 diplomatic dispatches. This was part of the department's program of releasing old state papers.

One U.S. diplomat, Henry William Anthell Jr., a clerk in the German General Staff, expected the Russians to seize

Administration Man May Get Strauss' Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reportedly is casting an eye on several members of his administration in the search for a successor to Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

Among those mentioned in congressional speculation in this connection are Leo A. Hoegh, civil defense director; Sumner G. Whitaker, veterans administrator; Gordon Gray, special presidential assistant for national security affairs; and Frederick H. Mueller, undersecretary of commerce.

Although Strauss might legally continue to serve in the Cabinet until Congress adjourns, he is understood to have told Eisenhower he would like to get out as soon as possible because of the Senate's rejection of his nomination 10 days ago.

As an indication of how reluctant Eisenhower is to part with Strauss' services, administration officials were said to have canvassed the possibility that the commission issued Strauss last October under a recess appointment still is valid.

Pope John XXIII Never Expects To Travel Far

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII told a general audience of 15,000 persons today he never expects to travel far from the Vatican.

"I am happy that so many of you come here to see me," the pontiff said, "since the duties of the pontificate force me to sacrifice ever seeing my native town (in North Italy) again, or of traveling afar — except when my predecessor is no longer needed."

That last phrase referred to death.

Composer Dies

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Herman Leopoldi, 70, famed here and abroad as a composer and performer of popular music, died Sunday of a heart attack.

In picking Strauss' successor, Eisenhower was reported determined to avoid another controversy of the kind that led to the Democratic-dominated Senate's refusal to confirm the nomination.

The general assumption is that the appointment the Senate rejected superseded this, but Senate officials said they found no clear precedent that would bar Strauss from continuing to serve if he and the President elected to take that course.

Recess appointments automatically expire when the subsequent session of the Senate ends.

Frostburg Lions Spend $2,800 For Projects

Karl Hartig Is Installed President

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Lions Club, through community projects, raised and spent over $2,800 during the fiscal year just ended, according to Russell Keister, retiring president.

Of the total amount, $783.80 was spent for eyeglasses and examinations of school children; $500 for the Frostburg library; $15, Beall High Mountaineer; $100, County United Fund; $50, Beall High scoreboard; $10, Beall High Band Boosters Club; $10, community Christmas lights; $9.55, international gift; $50, Pony League; $35, Maryland Singers of Frostburg State Teachers College; $10, Heart Fund; $200, Lions International for work in Columbia; $145.86, station wagon repairs for the Friends Aware school.

Included in the report was $116.20 which the Lions collected for the Salvation Army at Christmas time, and the fund allocated for the work at the Little League park of $300.

Installation of officers followed the business session with Carl Thomas, International councilor, of Frederick, in charge. Installed were Karl Hartig, first vice president; Eugene Valentine, second vice president; Dr. Daniel Shupe, third vice president; E. B. Van Fossen, fourth vice president; Thomas Blair, secretary; George Griffith, treasurer; U. B. F. Edwards, lion tamer; John Malcolm, tail twister; Carl Ruffo, Thomas Hutchinson, George Walters and Robert Ewing, board of directors.

Key awards were presented to John Ritchie, W. W. Slus Jr. and Robert Crabtree for acquiring two or more new members the past year. John L. Shiner, who has just completed a two-year term as secretary, was presented a past secretary award and Russell Keister, a past president pin.

Dr. Daniel Shupe and John Fatin announced that the club will sponsor the Beams Attractions in July at the ball park.

Firm Leases Oil, Gas Right

The oil and gas rights in Cooper's Rock State Forest, which is located in north central West Virginia 15 miles west of the Garrett County line, have been granted William E. Snee and Orville Eberly, Uniontown.

This is the first lease of oil and gas rights in a West Virginia State Forest to be granted by the West Virginia Conservation Commission.

Snee and Eberly developed the Terra Alta natural gas field, which they sold several years ago to the C&A Gas Company.

Warden Lane, conservation commission director, said Snee and Eberly outbid several firms for the lease, including Hope Natural Gas Company and the Shell Oil Company.

The commission will receive a minimum annual rental of $13,479, or a dollar an acre. In addition, the commission will get the revenue of 33.34 per cent of all gas produced, 50 per cent of all oil and 50 per cent of all gasoline.

Lane said the oil and gas operations will be tightly restricted so that public use of the forest will not be hampered.

YWA Honors Miss Bittner

FROSTBURG — Miss Darlene Bittner was the honored member at the luncheon held by the Young Women's Auxiliary following the morning session of Vacation Bible School at First English Baptist School at First English Baptist Church recently.

The entire YMA membership assisted in teaching classes all during the 10-day school.

After the luncheon, the president of the YWA, Darlene Bittner, was honored with gifts from the group and the auxiliary counselor in recognition of her graduation from Beall High School; and in turn she presented two readings, "The Business of Living" and "I Am Not Alone."

Others taking part were April

Ann Richardson, Emma Peten-brink, Pearl Neilson, Mrs. Sarah Neilson and Mrs. Doris Ward, counselor.

The meeting closed by the singing of the favorite hymns of the guests. Whispering Hope, Blessed Redeemer, Love Lifted Me, What a Friend We Have In Jesus, Footsteps of Jesus and The Old Rugged Cross.

Stewart Praised For His Service To Miners Hospital

FROSTBURG — A resolution of appreciation for the service rendered by A. Charles Stewart while a member of the Miners Hospital Board of Directors has been adopted by the board and a copy sent to him.

The resolution commended Mr.

Stewart for conscientious service rendered to the Town of Frostburg and its citizens while acting as a director of the hospital.

It was pointed out in the resolution that Mr. Stewart has declined to seek reappointment and advised Governor J. Millard

Tawes and the board to that effect. The resolution concluded with regret that Mr. Stewart declined to serve as director for another term.

Mr. Cesnick treasures his find and says he is willing to show it to any interested persons. The papers, pictures and coins are extremely well preserved and in good condition, despite 45 years of enclosure. The small tin box was slightly rusted, but Mr. Ces-nick has cleaned and polished it, and has all the articles intact and stored in the box for safe keeping.

• Illogical Handouts Should Be Ended

Back in the immediate post-World War II days, Congress enacted many laws to aid the millions of young men who had given several years to the defense of their country. In an exuberant attempt to show the gratitude of the nation to its courageous defenders, the legislators passed various bills providing preferential treatment for veterans.

One of these measures, providing pensions for veterans with disabilities caused outside the service, was enacted in too great haste. There is now a bill before Congress to modify in part the most damaging effects of this legislation, but the concept of government subsidy embodied in the very principle of the original bill requires more stringent correction than modification.

There is no basis in logic or moral honesty for a pension paid to any group of persons for physical disabilities caused by a force outside the sphere of influence of the concern which pays the bill. The fact that it is the government, with its supposedly unlimited resources, that is paying the bill in no way changes the injustice of the obligation.

As it now stands, the pension legislation goes even further afield than to penalize the taxpayers for disabilities for which they are not responsible. It insists upon all veterans who fall into this category collecting their pensions, regardless of the need. With non-service-connected disability pensions now totalling more than a billion dollars annually, it is obvious thousands of veterans are receiving money from the Treasury to which they have no moral title and which they do not need.

It is to correct this situation that a compromise bill has been reported to the floor of the House of Representatives by the House Veterans Affairs Committee. It was originally designed as a bill to outlaw non-service pensions, as recommended more than three years ago by the commission headed by Gen. Omar Bradley. Powerful veterans lobbies have succeeded in toning down the bill, which now permits the pensions to continue, but limits them to those who are in need.

Perhaps one should be content with a token acknowledgement that all is not right in a policy which favors one group of citizens over another, but bending principles was never a satisfactory method of salving a guilty conscience.

The Unobjective Historian

The assumption must be that an historian is objective. His task is to discover the facts of man's existence upon this Earth, to collate and correlate them, to record them, and sometimes, as Toynebee has tried, to make them into a system. When an historian writes, as Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., did, that he is "engaged in a private crusade to exterminate this particular myth that Herbert Hoover offered cooperation to Roosevelt in the weeks between the election and inauguration in 1932-33," he, Schlesinger, ceases to be an historian and becomes a propagandist.

Four men were engaged in the conversations concerning the cooperation under discussion. They were President Herbert Hoover, President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, Ogden Mills and Raymond Moley. Of these four men, Herbert Hoover and Raymond Moley are alive. Concerning these events Hoover and Moley have written.

Schlesinger, at the time of these events, was 15 years old; he was not an intimate of these men and therefore can only know what transpired from a selected documentation of the case.

A journalist would interview Herbert Hoover and Raymond Moley, the two survivors of the conference; perhaps an historian rejects the testimony of the living and only deals with documentation. On February 17, 1933, Herbert Hoover wrote a long-hand letter to Franklin D. Roosevelt, which read:

"A most critical situation has arisen in the country of which I feel it is my duty to advise you confidentially. I am therefore taking this course of writing you myself and sending it to you through the Secret Service for your hand direct as obviously its misplacement would only feed the fire and increase the dangers."

Further, he wrote:

"...I do not refer to action on all the causes of alarm, but it would steady the country greatly if there could be prompt assurance that there will be no tampering or inflation of the currency; that the budget will be unquestionably balanced, even if further taxation is necessary; that the Government credit will be maintained by refusal to exhaust it in the issue of securities..."

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, agreeing with Hoover, refused to become Roosevelt's Secretary of the Treasury, because of similar fears. Raymond Moley was at that time closest to Roosevelt. He had been the leading person of the so-called Brain Trust. In his book, "After Seven Years," Moley deals fully with this situation. He accompanied Roosevelt to the White House for the conference with Hoover and Mills. This is what Moley says of Hoover's statement to Roosevelt:

"Before he had finished, it was clear that we were in the presence of the best-informed individual in the country on the question of the debts. His story showed a mastery of detail and a clarity of arrangement that compelled admiration."

I refer to this one instance because it is so fully documented and two witnesses are alive to give testimony. There was another conference on January 20, 1933, at which Hoover, Roosevelt, Secretary of State Henry Stimson, Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, Ambassador Norman Davis and Raymond Moley were present. In fact, a joint statement was issued at the time.

In the curious documents from which I quote, the historian Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., says:

"What kind of cooperation was this? Cooperation from a defeated President ought to consist of an effort to help the President-elect put his program into effect. Hoover's tenders of cooperation consisted instead of demands that Roosevelt repudiate the program on which he had been elected and accept Hoover's..."

I wonder if, in his busy life, the historian has had time to look at the Roosevelt program of 1932. It had to do with beer and economy in government expenditures. It was nothing like the Roosevelt program of 1936 and 1940. It is the second New Deal Schlesinger is thinking about.

Can He Keep Smiling Through '60?

Has Treason Now Become A Misdemeanor?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Klaus Fuchs betrayed the country of which he was a citizen — Great Britain — but after only nine and a half years in prison, he goes free and travels back to the Communist world to which he previously gave the secrets of the atom bomb.

Four young white boys who raped a Negro girl were given sentences of life imprisonment in Florida last Monday, but such offenders often are paroled after ten years in jail.

Charles Starkweather, a teenager who went mad and killed eleven persons, was electrocuted on Thursday in Nebraska.

Does the punishment fit the crime?

In Britain for a long time they have had an agitation against capital punishment, and in March 1957, the British Parliament by law eliminated capital punishment for many types of murders, and prescribed the death penalty only in certain cases such as when a prison guard or policeman is murdered, or during a theft, or as a result of a deliberate shooting.

The Biblical command "Thou Shalt Not Kill" has, of course, been the main basis for the crusade against capital punishment, and in the dipomatic community enjoy immunity because of the ancient statute which protects them from arrest and imprisonment. Many of these are Americans who have achieved their immunity by virtue of being employed by a foreign mission—as cooks, gardeners and clerical help.

In Washington the principal benefit is being able to park a car wherever and whenever they please. It is not uncommon to see a sleek car with diplomatic tags parked on one of Washington's busiest streets right under big-letter "no parking" signs.

would obstruct justice has often provoked a mob to take the law into its own hands.

The recent rape cases have had a lot of publicity in different sections of the country. Many letters received by this correspondent point out that in some northern cities the news of rapings by Negroes on whites have been suppressed or given no prominence. Conversely, in Southern areas there have been instances in which Whites have been spared the death sentence for rape, whereas Negroes have suffered the extreme penalty.

It is being questioned whether, judged by purely legal standards, and the history of capital punishment, rape in itself where no death is involved, deserves the extreme penalty. Sometimes execution is a merciful act. A long prison sentence can be a torture that many convicts would prefer

In the nation's capital today about 4,500 members of the diplomatic community enjoy immunity because of the ancient statute which protects them from arrest and imprisonment. Many of these are Americans who have achieved their immunity by virtue of being employed by a foreign mission—as cooks, gardeners and clerical help.

Last year alone Washington police canceled 4,556 tickets for parking, speeding, running red lights and other traffic violations. There is no way of estimating how many violations actually occurred, because police usually do not even bother to write up tickets against cars with diplomatic tags.

Every so often, the State department, charged with handling the matter of diplomatic immunity, reminds some foreign embassy that immunity is not a license to violate the traffic laws. Sometimes, but not often, flagrant violators are reprimanded by their own ambassadors.

One aspect of the 1790 law is little known and never enforced. Under the law, an officer who arrests a diplomat—and a traffic ticket is technically an arrest notice—is a "violator of the law of nations and a disturber of the public repose." As such he is subject to maximum penalties of three years in jail and a fine at the discretion of the court!

The Cooling Mechanism Of The Human Body

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It is quite a job for the body to maintain the normal temperature of 98.6 degrees F. when the thermometer out of doors exceeds 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

For cooling purposes, a considerable portion of the circulating blood must be directed into the vessels of the skin. This means extra work for the heart and may explain why torrid weather is hard on the elderly and those with cardiac disease.

In addition, the sweat glands are thrown into high gear and the more perspiration that evaporates from the surface, the cooler the body becomes. A breeze helps considerably by hastening the evaporating process. Light clothing allows more circulation of air currents. Dry air absorbs more moisture, thus accustomed to hot weather are able to tolerate prolonged exposure without going into heat exhaustion.

Exercise increases body temperature and perspiration. So does direct exposure to the sun. Eating heavy foods adds to the discomfort because it has the same effect as adding fuel to the furnace.

This information can be of practical value for those who cannot sit all day in an air conditioned room. Avoid the direct rays of the sun, dress lightly, eat sensibly, and replace fluid loss with cool water. Overexertion is taboo unless acclimated to the heat. Use a fan to generate air currents when there is no breeze.

AFTER OPERATIONS

Mrs. W. writes: A hysterectomy and a gall bladder operation have left me with a nervous stomach and heart. How can these disorders be remedied?

REPLY

Nervousness is not easy to cure. You need more help than a few suggestions on acquiring equanimity. Meanwhile, stay calm and cheerful, keep busy, and avoid thinking about your adversities.

CAFFEE AND TENSION

P. L. writes: Why is coffee bad for glaucoma?

REPLY

It increases tension. In glaucoma, the outflow of fluid in the eye is blocked, and thus tension on the eyeballs is increased. Anything that dilates the pupils and adds to this tension ought to be avoided. These factors include emotional upsets, tight collars, watching movies or TV in the dark, and overindulgence in coffee.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A salesman called on the firm of Straley, Morgan, and Carnegie and asked to see Mr. Straley. "He's tied up," explained the receptionist. Asking for Morgan, he was told he was out of town. So it seemed, was Carnegie.

Next day he called again, and asked for the three partners in the same order, only to elicit precisely the same replies from the receptionist.

When it happened a third time, the salesman grew suspicious. "There's something very fishy about the fact that every time I come here," he complained, "Morgan and Carnegie are out of town, and Straley is tied up."

"Nothing fishy in the least," countered the receptionist hotly.

"Mr. Morgan and Mr. Carnegie care for the men it attracted."

Yanks Suffer Sixth Double Loss Of Year

42,121 In Windy City See Chisox Triumph, 9-2, 4-2

CHICAGO (UPI) — Turk Lown checked a New York Yankee ninth inning rally Sunday to help the Chicago White Sox to a 4-2 nightcap victory and a double-header sweep which dumped the World Champions back into fifth place in the American League.

The White Sox buried the Yankees under a barrage of four home runs to win the opener, 9-2, and help veteran Early Wynn to his 11th victory of the year and his 260th as a major leaguer.

It was the sixth double-header loss of the season for the Yankees and came before a White Sox crowd of 42,121, the largest Chicago baseball turnout in two years.

Sherm Lollar, Bubba Phillips and Earl Battey each belted two-run homers in the opener to hand Whitey Ford the loss. Lollar drove in three runs with a first inning homer in the nightcap to drive Don Larsen from the mound with his second loss of the season.

Dick Donovan, facing the Yankees for the first time this season, was the nightcap winner. Donovan held the Yankees to but three hits and one run going into the ninth, but a double by Mickey Mantle after one was out and a run-scoring single by Norm Siebern, along with a walk to Bill Skowron, brought on Lown.

Lown retired the next two batters—Yogi Berra on an infield grounder and Gil McDougald on an outfield fly—to end the game.

Al Smith started Chicago's home run attack in the first game, when he lined a bases -empty shot off Ford in the fifth inning. It marked the first of seven Chicago runs on homers.

Siebern clouted a two-run homer for the Yankees' lone scores in the opener.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Now that "Girl" which David Swift is directing.

Richard Egan is going to be glad papa in January, he's going to work extra hard to buy those baby shoes. His first job since his mother who was so gravely ill is getting better.

That beautiful holiday Sydney Chaplin has been having in Paris ends the first week in September when he reports to Leland Hay Porter's perennial best selling novel, "Pollyanna." He joins the ward for "Goodbye Charlie," the cast headed by Jane Wyman, Lauren Bacall play. As I told you, Karl Malden and Kevin Corcoran gets back and forth in the adventures of the "Glad into rehearsals in September, and she and Sydney take the play to Cleveland, Detroit and Pittsburgh before opening in New York in December.

I saw Noelle Adams, Sydney's girlfriend, with a group of friends at Luchows. There are doubts whether she and Sydney will ever get married.

The most daring play of its day was "The Captive" which I saw 25 years ago with Helen Menken on Broadway. It was a story of a young, beautiful girl who fell under the spell of another woman. This very tricky subject was handled so that the other woman was never shown.

On the plane coming home Irving Lazar told me that he and Arthur Hornblow have bought the rights from Gilbert Miller and will bring it to Broadway in a re-written play and they will also make it into a movie. It should take a bit of doing to get this past the censors, but Irving tells me that they already have a way of taking out the unpleasant angles.

Talked with Fred Astaire who moved into the Waldorf just before I left. He was so happy about his notices on his book "Steps in

Time." He worked hard, both at the publishers' convention and in making appearances. Fred and daughter Ava went to hear Tommy Sands and after the show they visited the young singer. Fred was most complimentary and said that Tommy has great poise for so young an entertainer.

New York likes young Sands so well, and the Waldorf business is so good that Gus Lampo has signed him for the Cocoanut Grove Aug. 12 for a two week engagement.

While the young people love the progressive jazz, I like Tommy best when he sings ballads.

Joanne Woodward, who now has autograph-seekers following her, tells me that her first girlhood crush was on Van Johnson. "I was so crazy about him," she said. "I went to see every movie he made. When he got married I went into deep mourning — I thought my life was over. And when I finally met him my heart almost stopped beating."

I don't know whether she's ever told Van about this crush or not, but I thought it was very cute and she gave me permission to tell it. Naturally, Van is out of her life now and there is only one man. His name happens to be Paul Newman.

Even in New York word leaked out how good the four Crosby boys (Bing's sons) are in their act in Tucson, Ariz., where they opened. Milton Prell of the Sahara and Major Riddle of The Dunes, in Las Vegas, were backstage and made the boys a fancy offer of an estimated $150,000, give or take a few thousand.

The Crosbys have also had an offer from the Latin Quarter in New York. Their act was written by Harry Crane and Jack Brooks, and the boss of the show is big brother Gary.

The women of China and other Eastern countries dye their hair, the juice of the petals of the hibiscus being in general use for that purpose.

Steam is invisible. It is water vapor which has cooled and condensed that is seen.

Garrett Countians Get Farmer Degree

Three Garrett countians are among 45 young farmers who were awarded Maryland Farmer Degrees at the State Future Farmers of America convention last week at the University of Maryland.

They are Kenneth Bachtel, Oakland; Roy Schlossnagle and Harold Schmidt, both Northern Garrett.

Raymond N. Welch, a 20-year-old Wicomico County youth, has been named Maryland Star Farmer.

Paul J. Muha, principal of Northern Garrett High School, and John Beckner, vocational agriculture teacher there, are among 13 Maryland men who received the honorary Maryland Farmer Degree. This honorary degree is awarded annually to a small group of men who have rendered outstanding service to the FFA and Maryland agriculture.

SHOPPING PLEASURE!

Area residents have, for years, shopping L. Bernstein's for their many furniture and appliance needs. There's a good reason, too. In fact, there are many reasons. But the most important of all is that at L. Bernstein's the customers' best interests comes first.

L. Bernstein's is not satisfied to be just another furniture store. Certainly not satisfied just to bring you the best in values, easy terms, charge accounts and many other services too numerous to mention here. L. Bernstein's wants you to have these conveniences — plus any others that will give you greater satisfaction. That's why Bernstein's has installed modern gas air conditioning. Here is an advancement that assures you the ultimate in shopping comfort — especially with the many hot summer days ahead. Yes, at L. Bernstein's you'll find a cool, relaxed atmosphere that will make your shopping so much more enjoyable.

Now — more than ever — L. Bernstein's is the Furniture store to shop. Won't you stop in soon, to shop or to browse, and enjoy L. Bernstein's latest improvement designed just for you! L. Bernstein Furniture Company, 9-11 N. Centre Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Now that "Girl" which David Swift is directing.

Egan has real cause to be glad these days for many reasons, an important one is that his mother who was so gravely ill is getting better.

That beautiful holiday Sydney Chaplin has been having in Paris ends the first week in September when he reports to Leland Hay Porter's perennial best selling novel, "Pollyanna." He joins the ward for "Goodbye Charlie," the cast headed by Jane Wyman, Lauren Bacall play. As I told you, Karl Malden and Kevin Corcoran gets back and forth in the adventures of the "Glad into rehearsals in September, and she and Sydney take the play to Cleveland, Detroit and Pittsburgh before opening in New York in December.

I saw Noelle Adams, Sydney's girlfriend, with a group of friends at Luchows. There are doubts whether she and Sydney will ever get married.

The most daring play of its day was "The Captive" which I saw 25 years ago with Helen Menken on Broadway. It was a story of a young, beautiful girl who fell under the spell of another woman. This very tricky subject was handled so that the other woman was never shown.

On the plane coming home Irving Lazar told me that he and Arthur Hornblow have bought the rights from Gilbert Miller and will bring it to Broadway in a re-written play and they will also make it into a movie. It should take a bit of doing to get this past the censors, but Irving tells me that they already have a way of taking out the unpleasant angles.

Talked with Fred Astaire who moved into the Waldorf just before I left. He was so happy about his notices on his book "Steps in

Time." He worked hard, both at the publishers' convention and in making appearances. Fred and daughter Ava went to hear Tommy Sands and after the show they visited the young singer. Fred was most complimentary and said that Tommy has great poise for so young an entertainer.

New York likes young Sands so well, and the Waldorf business is so good that Gus Lampo has signed him for the Cocoanut Grove Aug. 12 for a two week engagement.

While the young people love the progressive jazz, I like Tommy best when he sings ballads.

Joanne Woodward, who now has autograph-seekers following her, tells me that her first girlhood crush was on Van Johnson. "I was so crazy about him," she said. "I went to see every movie he made. When he got married I went into deep mourning — I thought my life was over. And when I finally met him my heart almost stopped beating."

I don't know whether she's ever told Van about this crush or not, but I thought it was very cute and she gave me permission to tell it. Naturally, Van is out of her life now and there is only one man. His name happens to be Paul Newman.

Even in New York word leaked out how good the four Crosby boys (Bing's sons) are in their act in Tucson, Ariz., where they opened. Milton Prell of the Sahara and Major Riddle of The Dunes, in Las Vegas, were backstage and made the boys a fancy offer of an estimated $150,000, give or take a few thousand.

The Crosbys have also had an offer from the Latin Quarter in New York. Their act was written by Harry Crane and Jack Brooks, and the boss of the show is big brother Gary.

In Memoriam

In memory of Edgar T. Hardin who passed away June 26, 1958.

No turns

But I think of him.

Those left behind are very dear.

But none replace him.

And since he got it's not the same.

The world is black and bare.

I miss him every place I look.

And he just isn't there.

God knew how he was suffering.

That night he was about to climb,

So he closed his weary eyelids.

And whispered "Peace be Thine."

His weary hours of pain

His weary nights are past.

His ever patient worn face came

To rest at last.

So I'll be brave. Dear Husband.

And pray to God each day

And when He calls me home to you,

Your smile will guide the way.

For know that when life here is done.

That where every heaven may be

That you will be standing at the door

Up there to welcome me.

His loving wife

Mrs. Ruth M. Hardin

Did your beauty suffer any casualties over the weekend? Here are precautions to take for protection it needs!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Week-End Beauty "Casualties"

How much charm and beauty can you attain with a sun-burned nose, stiff muscles and aching joints?

Are your feet and arches sore? Then sit on a chair and place junior's hard rubber ball under your arch. Firmly roll your foot across it from heel to toe. Keep the ball in as nearly the same spot as possible and you'll ease out the discomfort.

Calf muscles protesting? To relax them, walk once around the room on tiptoe and then after you step out on the right toe, lower the heel very slowly to the floor. On the next step, repeat with the left foot. After five minutes of this alternating routine you'll feel better!

Back and arms stiff and aching? Raise your arms to shoulder level in front of you; fling them hard as you can over your head and then straight down until your hands reach far behind you. Keep this up, maintaining a good rhythm and brisk pace.

Stiff joints and aching muscles are proof positive that you've been neglecting yourself for far too long. A little extra exercise will never cause soreness if you have been following a regular and sensible exercise routine such as this column consistently recommends.

If you are suffering from a lobster-red sunburn from having embarked on your recent weekend without proper personal precautions, let the penalties serve as a warning. Next weekend go well prepared! No matter how quickly you wish to promote a golden tan, remember that frequent crisping of your skin and

Patricia Smeerman, 12, Is Thrown From Railroad Trestle Into Creek

A 12-year-old Meyersdale, Pa., area girl was critically injured yesterday afternoon when she was struck by an eastbound B&O passenger train on a trestle at Cook's Mills near Hyndman and was hurled into Wills Creek.

Patricia Smeerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smeerman, RD 4, Meyersdale, was admitted to Memorial Hospital here and was rushed to surgery.

Attaches said she suffered a fractured right leg, knee and shoulder, multiple lacerations and possible chest injuries.

On Fishing Trip

The girl was struck by eastbound Passenger Train No. 22 while she and members of her family were on a fishing trip.

The train was traveling from Pittsburgh to Washington, D. C.

The Men of LaSalle will hold their second annual corn and at the time of the accident and wiener roast at Mt. Calvary on the Mason Road on Saturday, July 25, from 6:30 p. m. to midnight.

Tickets have been printed and are being distributed by members of the club, according to Anthony Cioni, president. Tickets entitle holders to all they can eat and drink. The event is open to the public.

Plans are being made by a committee composed of Paul Stakem, chairman, and Milton Kyhos, Paul Dougherty, Victor Malloy, John Hodel, Frank Werner and Joseph Mackert.

Virtually all details for the program have been worked out, except for the entertainment which will include dancing in the open from 9 p. m. to midnight.

Two outgoing officers, Paul Stakem, president, and Joseph Mackert, treasurer, presented final reports at recent meeting which was turned over to the newly elected officers, Mr. Cioni; Mr. Stakem, vice president; Richard Stegmaier, secretary, and William Schoenadel, treasurer.

Membership dues are due in September and the club has decided to mail to all present and prospective members a detailed report of receipts and disbursements for the past year along with the membership card.

The new officers expect to begin publishing a club bulletin within the next few months to keep members posted on operations of the club.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday, July 23.

Boor To Head Local 307

William Boor was elected president of Electricians Local 307 at a meeting Friday night at the Labor Temple.

Mr. Boor defeated Robert Weller for the post, to succeed the retiring president, Edgar Kegg, who was not a candidate for re-election.

George W. Lucas was re-elected financial secretary and business agent in a three-man race with Kenneth Sheets and Harry Foreman.

Elected without opposition were William Crux, vice president; Fred Sullivan, recording secretary; and Paul Cottom, treasurer.

Executive board members are Virgil Abe, Edgar Kegg, Roy Bowman, Floyd Clites and Clinton Northcraft.

B&O Worker Sustains Severe Finger Injury

Roddie Stutler, 37, of Vienna, Va., was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital early yesterday with a severe finger injury he sustained while at work.

House Burned During Area Fire School

Fog Nozzles Used To Control Flames

Some 60 area firemen turned out in yesterday's 97-degree heat to watch an abandoned dwelling burn to the ground.

The controlled burning of the home off the east side of Green Ridge Mountain was done during a regional fire school.

The chief instructor for the fire school was Cromwell Zembower, regional instructor for the Fire Extension Service and a member of the training committee of the state volunteer firemen's association.

Assisting were Chief Fred Purcell, Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company; Chief Cleland Helmick, Flintstone; Chief Leroy Shoemaker, District 16, and Chief Ned Hose, Oldtown.

Members of all of those companies, along with the Baltimore Pike Fire Company, attended the school.

The abandoned two-story dwelling which was put to the torch, was offered to the firemen for training purposes.

The object of the school, Mr. Zembower said, was to provide instruction and practice in controlling a home fire with the use of booster tanks and tank trucks.

The equipment was furnished by the Bedford Road and District 16 companies.

Fog hoses were used to control the flames with water hauled to the site in pumper and tank trucks.

The flames were kept under control until the heat built up in the tinder-dry frame dwelling, which burned to the ground within an hour.

Firemen also got some practice in fighting brush fires as brands from the burning home set fire to brush in the area.

The fire fighters were entertained by the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company after the training class ended.

Salvation Army Budget Approved

The Salvation Army budget for its 1960 operations, including its request from the County United Fund, was approved Friday by the advisory board at a luncheon meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Robert G. Garner, board chairman, and the members also discussed the possibility of purchase of a Johnson Heights residence as the home for Lt. Richard McConnel. The SA's South Cumberland Corps at 511 Virginia Avenue was badly damaged by fire May 23.

Three Area DES Offices Report No Overpayments

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of Employment Security says it paid 181 persons $25,826 in jobless benefits on fraudulent claims during the first three months of 1958.

Director Robert B. Kimble said the figures represented less than one-fifth of 1 per cent of the $18,952,000 paid 95,879 persons during that quarter.

The department has just completed investigations of that three-month period.

A massive audit of the accounts of everyone receiving one payment during the period also showed that 1,772 claimants received overpayments totaling $60,000 because of errors or misunderstandings, with no fraud involved.

All fraud cases are turned over to prosecutors with prosecution recommended.

Kimble said only three offices had no overpayments of either type — Kitzmiller and Friendsville in Garrett County and Lonaconing in Allegany County.

This seminar is conducted by both the medical and theological faculties. This is reportedly the only school in the United States with an actual relationship between the medical and theological schools in an effort to heal the "whole person."

Red Cross Swimming Course Starts Today

The Red Cross will sponsor a course in life saving and water safety, starting today at the Cebane pool.

Classes will be held from 10 a.m. until noon. Interested persons may register with Raymond R. Ogden at the pool.

Mr. Mullen was a retired division accountant for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

They stated at the public airing that they must continue to feed and milk their cows, and that most of the milk is being poured away. Some said they have been skimming cream and marketing it, have been feeding skimmed milk to hogs, but most milk produced is being wasted.

In addition to the waste, they pointed out, they must continue to invest money in feed, milk the cows and work as usual, but with no market for their milk.

Mr. Mullen left a cash bequest to one son, William T. Mullen, 21, Hampton Court, Port Washington, L. I., N. Y. One half of all the rest of his estate was left to his daughter, Mrs. Anna May O'Rourke, Clearwater Beach, Fla. The other half was left in trust for the benefit of his son, Joseph E. Mullen, Frostburg, another son. The will was dated December 3, 1956.

Mr. Mullen was a retired division accountant for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

They explained that the main plant is at Clarksburg and there are three sub-stations or milk collection points, such as the one in Oakland. The entire operation, they stated, affects some 140 union members, including eight at Oakland.

Negotiations for a new contract between the union and the Carnation Company began on June 3, and covered 17 items. The contract expired June 17, when the strike began.

After dinner there will be round and square dancing from 8 p.m. until midnight.

St. Ann's Parish Dinner Is July 4

St. Ann's parish of Avilton will sponsor its annual chicken and ham dinner on Saturday, July 4. The dinner will be served family style from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m.
